WALTHAM WATCHES.

In soliciting anew the public patronage of Watches of domestic production, the American Watch Company respectfully repeats that—

That no fact in the history of manufactures is more conclusively demonstrated than that the best system of making Watches is the one first established by them at Waltham. That system always had the warrant of reason and common sense, and now the test of time in the trial of the Watches themselves cannot be denied to have been ample and satisfactory. It is admitted on every hand—the evidence of daily observation and common experience—that the Watches not only keep correct time, but that the machines they execute. It should seem that nothing more is needed but that their sizes, shapes and appearance should suit the tastes of the people. As to all these conditions the American Watch Co. are now fully prepared to answer the exactions of the times. They confidently assert there is no longer any need of such reasons to import watches of any description whatever. Every size in ordinary demand, every shape, and every variety of finish and decoration, may now be had. And as to price, the present reductions leave no room for doubt that the Waltham system of Watch-making is the most economical as well as the most reliable; and that the Waltham Watch is the cheapest as well as the best.

Many new varieties of movements have been added during the past year, all of which display the latest improvements in design and finish, and evince the rapid progress the Company is making toward perfection in the art. Among these the new small size Watch, for boys and young gentlemen is to be specially noted. A very low price has been made for this Watch, because it is a boy's watch, and with the object of bringing it within the means of boys of all classes. Price being considered, such a Watch, in quality and beauty, has ever, in any country, been produced.

The "Crescent-street" full-plate Watch, added during the last year, is now made either with or without stem-winding and setting attachment. This Watch, in either form, the Company challenges all manufacturers of all countries to beat or equal for the price. It is made with the latest improvements in every part—improvements which IMPROVE—and which not only make it better for its purposes as a time-keeper, but will make it the great favorite with watch-makers. This, the highest grade of full-plate Watches made in this country, in size and appearance, finish, and general excellence, is especially intended for and recommended to business men, and in particular to Railway and Express men, to constant travellers—in fact, to all live men who must be told by their watches the correct time of day whenever they want it. All such men should have the "American Watch Co., Crescent-street." Counting on such destination for this variety of their manufacture, the Company devote the greatest care to its construction, employ upon it only their best men and best machinery, and issue it with their reputation at stake upon its success.

For sale by all leading jewellers. No watches retailed by the Company. For all other facts address

PROCLAMATION OF M. THIERS.

LONDON, March 19, 2:30 A. M.—Provincial journals contain a proclamation addressed to the rioters and evil-disposed of Paris, dated at PARIS on preceding day. He says he is informed that the malcontents of Montmartre have pleaded their cause with arms, and that the dwellings of their fellow-citizens and the property of the republic are threatened with ruin. He declares that by such acts they will be lost. He insists that the present government is really republican, and that its future is equally acknowledged by electors throughout the republic. He says that he will stand by loyalty, patriotism, and the law. The government will employ all its forces to maintain the dwellings of their fellow-citizens and the property of the republic. He will give free and liberal assistance to the city in repairing damages. He will not allow the sacrifices of the country to be stopped and the shops closed. He continues:

"The government, hoping the malcontents will return to their duty on good citizens and they the law, will withhold its orders to proceed to extreme measures to free the country of its evil genius; but it is determined to act when necessary, and relies for the principle over to justice. The government relies on the co-operation of all good citizens."

The proclamation concludes:

"After this warning we shall proceed to force the peace, if necessary, at all hazards."

LONDON, March 19—6 P. M.—Special dispatches from Versailles say that the Assembly to-day ratified the action of the Executive in the matter of the Paris riots. The vote was 488 to 94. The Assembly then adjourned to Wednesday.

LONDON, March 19—8 A. M.—Further details of the most unfortunate character have taken place in Paris, and the situation is hourly becoming more serious. The following proclamation by the proclamation of President Thiers at midnight on Friday, and is addressed to the inhabitants of Paris:

The malcontents of Montmartre, in order to cover their criminal designs, have pleaded the cause of the republic. The republic is not threatened by those who are defending it. The republic is not threatened by those who are defending it. The republic is not threatened by those who are defending it. The republic is not threatened by those who are defending it.

The proclamation concludes:

"After this warning we shall proceed to force the peace, if necessary, at all hazards."

NEW YORK, March 19.—The late bank gain of no money that it represented the movement of the Treasury will in April engage his attention. He will order to the extent already indicated the prices of the new and the new loan, the difference being applied against the principle of the bonds. It is suggested at this of his present system he will substitute a certain amount, say from 1% to 2% per cent, which will be redeemed in gold, after a given date, interest on bonds to cease after a certain time; that for the future no agency is to be employed to bring gold for redemption, and offsetting all advance in all the old issues. It seems the opinion will be general among the Secretaries called in to take the new bonds. The lower range of the gold premium is attributed to the fact that the specie resumption are going forward satisfactorily in London, having in view the subscription to a second amount of the new loan.

BANK STATEMENT.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The bank statements for the week show a slight increase in deposits and loans, and a decrease in circulation, specie, and legal-tenders. The loss in the surplus reserve is $2,207,325. The bank loans are now up to the large figure of $370,325,000.

MONEY.

Money closed at bank on call to-day at 7 per cent on call being still the standard rate with bankers.

GOLD

was very steady during the day at 111¼. The bank statement, however, had the effect to check the transactions of the Treasury's action.

STOCKS

Stocks were lower all day, closing, but were generally down after the bank statement. Gale & Manning at 4:30, say the only feature of the day's business was the buying for Union Pacific were as follows: Stocks, 240,000 shs; land grants, 70s; gifts, 7; bonds, 70,000.

BONDS.

Government bonds were firmer until noon, when there was a slight reaction. Central Pacific gold bonds were quoted at 90@90¼.

EXCHANGE.

Foreign exchange caused him for the demand; the leading drawers asked 109¾ for sixty-day sterling bills; the rate for short sight was nominally 110¼, but most negotiations appear to have been at 110¾. The shipments of to-day were only $434,184 in treasury, of which only $50,000 was in gold, the rest being silver.

IMPORTS.

The total imports for the week were valued at $7,501,456, of which $2,523,000 represent dry goods.

NEW BOOKS.

A LIFE OF GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE. By John Esten Cooke. With Portrait and Maps. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co. 1871.

We have already alluded to the issue of this life of General Lee in our last literary notice. Its appearance since then, and the fact that it is a unique book, which does not claim to universal literary merit, and the special interest in the subject matter, call for further notice. It is, perhaps, the first attempt at a biography of General Lee, by one of his personal friends, who, by position, was capable of the work set before them, which has been done in a manner that will be satisfactory to the public. It is a large part, a century of the people, and the author has done his work well. It is not a mere compilation in no sense of the word. Viewing the position which the subject of his biography held during the war of the rebellion, and the enthusiasm with which he was regarded by the admiration even of those who fought him with blood and iron, it is not to be wondered at that the author has found his task a difficult one. It is, perhaps, very fortunate that he possesses the qualifications which are capable of the work set before him, which are only the personal history of the man, but, in
